And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

According to an editorial in "The American Rifleman," a publication of the National Rifle Association, there could be relief in sight for ammunition buyers. There has been a bill introduced in the House by Rep. Al Ullman of Oregon to exempt small arms ammunition from provisions of the 1968 Gun Control Act.

This bill would stop the silly, unnecessary requirement that anyone buying ammunition must give personal data and identification and be registered on a dealer record.

Not only is this part of the gun control law a real problem from the standpoint of the paper work and time consumed by dealers, but it is of no value to anyone. There is no way to trace ammunition that is used illegally, so there can be no value in knowing who has bought a box of 22 shells or a box of shotgun shells.

This part of the gun control law can only serve as an appeasement to those who are crying for the elimination of guns. It only serves to harass both the buyer and seller of ammunition in what we suppose is an attempt to get the public to decide that hunting is just not worth the trouble involved.

We feel that Congress could render a distinct service to many millions of good Americans by amending the Gun Control Law to confine it to its expressed purpose of repressing crime without harassing law-abiding citizens with silly, pointless regulations.

If the legislative bodies of both the states and the nation really want to curb gun crimes they could require an additional 10 years in jail for anyone convicted of a crime involving the use of a gun. This would affect only the criminal and would not bother the law-abiding citizen.

With the riots taking place almost daily in our colleges across the nation it is nice to see a little humor thrown on the subject. Floyd Clifton passed along a clipping from the Texas Tech newspaper, "The University Daily," the other day.

It seems that with students demanding changes in the way our colleges are being run five students at Tech have come up with a rather unique set of demands. Their letter to the editor was as follows:

"Five student cowboys representing no particular student organization presented a list of 'suggestions' for a change in policy of college administration. . . (Intended for the amusement of the readers only).

"1. Ridin' and ropin' courses to be offered and taught by real cowboys.

"2. Recruitment of students from area ranches.

"3. West Texas drawl and slang to be offered as a course.

"4. More cowboy entertainment.

"5. More cowboy speakers in front of the Union.

"6. Recruiting of cowboy professors.

"7. Hiring of cowboy coaches for cowboy sports.

"8. More cowboys in high office.

"9. Providing stall space: one horse for each dorm room.

"10. Serving cowboy food in Union and dorm cafeterias (Bar-b-que and milk) with dinner bell rung at noon.

"11. Recruitment of more cowboy athletes.

"12. Substitute boots, spurs and chaps for cleats and pads.

"13. Recruitment of cowboys from nations other than Texas."

While these demands seem ridiculous, they do not appear any more so than some of the demands being made by students in California, New York and some of the states across the country.

Cystic Fibrosis Drive Planned Here Today

The first drive in Hamlin to aid Cystic Fibrosis Research will be held here this evening (Thursday) from 5 to 7. Workers will meet at the home of Mrs. Douglas LeCroy, chairman, 451 Northwest Ave. F, between 5 and 6 and receive materials and street assignments.

At a coffee Friday in Mrs. LeCroy's home women were shown a film, "Song of the Night Lark," which pictured the testing program, care of CF children and research methods now underway.

Cystic Fibrosis (CF) is one of the most serious illnesses that attack children. It is probably the most common lethal inherited disease of white children. (Reported incidence among Negroes and Orientals is rare.)

Some children have to sleep under a plastic tent which provides a dense mist of water and chemicals which he breathes to loosen and liquefy the thick, gluey mucus that, because of the illness, accumulates in the lungs.

The film pictured further care necessary for some patients, including an aerosol

Sheriff's Tip Foils Con Game By Four Transients Here Tuesday

A tip from the Sheriff's Office in Anson, followed by the work of the Hamlin Police Department, may have saved some Hamlin merchants some grief Tuesday afternoon.

The Anson office notified Police Chief Bryan Wasson that four adults, two men and two women, had tried to use a short change trick in Anson.

Giving the description of the four, the local Police warned merchants here.

The transients entered several Hamlin businesses but were not successful with their con game. They were located by the Police and escorted out of town.

The con game they used was to go into the store, buy an item priced less than a dollar, and give the clerk a $20 bill. Then after receiving change, the conartist would act surprised to find they had a dollar bill and ask the clerk to take the purchase out of the dollar and return their $20 bill, netting the change from the $20.

Banquet Crowd Hears Analogy Between Rome, United States

Omar Burleson Says Our Problems Are Political, Moral

John C. Bryant, new president of the Hamlin Board of Community Development, asked those in attendance at the annual BCD banquet to pledge with him to do a better job for Hamlin in the coming year.

Over 200 persons were present to hear guest Speaker Congressman Omar Burleson, representative of the 17th Texas District. The banquet was held Friday evening in the Hamlin High School Cafeteria.

Burleson told of the increasing trend of avoiding making decisions and leaving important things to computers. But, he warned, "Our most crucial problems now are political and moral — we can't push a button or turn a handle to solve them."

He drew an analogy between the United States and the Roman Empire, saying "they too, had their high-rise apartments, and problems with their tenants, and they had their ghettos."

Burleson made no reference to any administration, saying that our problems have evolved slowly. He used the comparison that a frog would hop out immediately when dropped into boiling water; but, if a frog were put in lukewarm water and if the water were gradually brought to the boiling point, "you would boil the frog."

"Do we think that things that happened to other civilizations can't happen to us? I wonder if we as a nation think we are so unique that we are imperishable?" he queried.

"We've been hearing for years that we've never had it quite so good," the speaker continued, "there's nothing wrong with that except that inflation is flowing like lava over everything we have."

He advocated the return to local communities of control on some programs because "federal programs are not reaching the people they're supposed to."

"The mission of the federal government," he said, "is to make broad general policies, provide a definition of issues — but not be what I call a 'doer'."

"Just as the Romans had their circuses," he said, "now there is talk of buying large blocks of tickets to sporting events to keep the unemployed 'occupied'."

Continuing the analogy, he said that Rome at one point changed over to a mercenary army and after a time the mercenaries were robbing the people. "But first," he emphasized, "the guns were

THE HAMLIN HERALD

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

AT COFFEE FRIDAY — Guests at a coffee Friday afternoon hear Mrs. Douglas LeCroy, hostess, tell how the mist tent and aerosol mask help children with Cystic Fibrosis. A doll is used to show the position of a child while sleeping under the mist tent. Mrs. LeCroy is local chairman for the CF Research drive for funds in Hamlin. Women who will also be helping with the door to door drive Thursday are, left to right, Mrs. Ewell Mackey, Mrs. Jerry Williams and Mrs. Donald Young.

CYSTIC FIBROSIS—

mask for inhalation of prescribed dosage of antibiotics, and postural drainage — getting the patient to cough up the loosened mucus. Tilting the child in various positions, his parents clap with cupped hands over the affected areas of his lungs, in the manner taught by a physical therapist.

Many cases of CF go undetected because of similarity to other diseases. Therefore, it is extremely important that people be informed of CF to detect the disease in the early stages before serious damage has been done.

Often parents are the first to give doctors a hint that a child has CF. They report to the doctor that "the skin tastes salty when kissed" or "the child eats very well but never seems to gain any weight." Other symptoms of CF may be a persistent cough and repeated infections.

The most inconclusive test at this time for children under 18 is the "sweat test." In almost all CF patients, secretion of salt in sweat is two to five times above normal levels.

So new is the drive in this area for aid to CF, there are few organized chapters. Region 12 which convened recently in San Angelo compasses the entire state of Texas. Few chapters are organized in West Texas although strong chapters exist in the Dallas-Ft. Worth and Houston areas.

Mrs. LeCroy pointed out that the primary goal of this initial drive was to inform the people of this dreaded child killer. Although, she continued, the funds will go to aid in research which not only gives hope to this generation but all generations to follow. She said just as insulin has given near normal way of life to the diabetic, so hope continues for help for the CF child.

While there is no cure for CF, there are effective methods of treatment, especially when the condition is diagnosed early. Since there are striking variations in the degree and severity from patient to patient, treatment must be individualized.

Even though the CF child is born with the disease, it is not classified as a birth defect, therefore funds from the National Foundation are not available to families with CF children. The money raised in the CF drive is used for research.

Also, in few places is CF a part of the United Fund campaigns, further adding to the burden of individual fund raising efforts.

Of the 72 health agencies in the United States only 12 are in the Health Council. CF is one of the members of the

Chief Tells Jaycee-ettes About Narcotics, Drugs

Several guests from Abilene attended the Thursday evening meeting of the Hamlin Jaycee-ettes to hear a program on Narcotics and Drugs by Hamlin Police Chief Bryan Wasson.

He said that people use drugs as an escape from reality and for amusement. Chief Wasson explained the difference in narcotics and dangerous drugs. The two have one thing in common, he said, in that they both affect the nervous system.

Narcotic drugs such as opium, heroine, codeine, and morphine and synthetic drugs such as demerol can be physically addicting because the body develops a tolerance for the drug. Withdrawal from these drugs can be fatal, he warned.

Dangerous drugs or drugs of abuse are drugs such as amphetamines, benzadrine, and barbiturates. They are in two classes, stimulants and depressants. Both affect the nerve center in the brain. Barbiturates are physically addicting and distort how people see things and slows down their reactions and responses. An overdose of stimulants can be fatal. Stimulants are habit forming or psychologically addicting. The body will not suffer withdrawal if the drug is stopped. Heavy doses may cause a temporary

Council.

It was not until last year that the U.S. government specified funds for use in CF research. Last fall one million dollars was appropriated for research. Mrs. Pat Nixon is national honorary chairman.

A permanent solution to CF still has not been found but research continues and so do the hopes of parents who have a child with CF that something can be found soon.

When workers call from door to door they will be asking each resident to "Give a child a breath of life."

mental derangement with hallucinations.

A third drug is a hallucinogen, a mind affecting drug such as LSD, DMT, and Peyote. Marijuana falls in the class as hallucinogen but is legally classed as a narcotic. The drug is not physically addicting but can cause severe mental derangement. Panic and paranoia seem to be the most known effects of the drug. Recurrences or flash backs can occur for as long as one year. Accidental death in LSD cases stem mainly from the fact that the user feels that he can fly or float and may leap from a window, walk in the path of a car or drive thinking that he cannot be harmed.

"Of the drugs produced in the U. S. for medical use, 50% ends up in illegitimate use," the chief concluded.

Hostesses were Mrs. Scotty Knox and Mrs. Earnie Reusch.

During the business meeting, with Mrs. M. D. Smith, presiding, the group made plans for a work night Feb. 27 at 7:30 to make glasses cases to be used as favors at the state convention.

Mrs. Knox was appointed to contact the local merchants about a spring fashion show.

Guests from Abilene were Mmes. Rick Clayton, Mike Bryant, Willie Bane, Fred Smith, Joe Foster and Andy Springer.

Other guests were Mrs. Bryan Castleberry and new members, Mrs. Jody Ford and Mrs. Bob Murff.

The next meeting will be Mar. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Ted Seay. Mrs. Charles Brumley will be co-hostess.

Program On Home Life Given for Literary Club

Mrs. Jackie Williams was director for the Home Life program at the Friday afternoon meeting of the Woman's Literary Club in the home of Mrs. L. O. Hughes.

Taking part on the program were Mmes. Robert Wilson, A. B. Carlton, Bob Craig and Joe Simpson.

Mrs. Wilson discussed giving parties, pointing out to the prospective hostess that special attention should be given to the guest list, the menu, letting guests know what type of dress would be appropriate, and planning of decorations. "The hostess who has anticipated the comfort and entertainment of her guests," she concluded, "will be relaxed and feel free to enjoy her own party."

Mrs. Carlton gave tips for mothers. She brought out the importance of giving children assurance. She said, "Let kids know, often, that you think they're doing great at the hard and necessary job of being kids."

In discussing speaking in public, Mrs. Craig stressed preparedness, practice and perseverance in speaking before groups.

Mrs. Simpson mentioned the varied plans for systematic saving. She told that a forced savings plan was more effective than waiting until the end of the month and save only what is left. Payroll deductions, periodic savings-account debits at the bank and savings bonds were given as good saving methods.

Mrs. R. D. Moore gave parliamentary briefs.

During the business session preceding the program, Mrs. L. H. McBride, president, presided. The letter of resignation from Mrs. Kenneth Young was read and accepted by the membership.

The next meeting will be March 7 in the home of Mrs. W. L. Moran.

The wedding will be held May 31 in Neinda Baptist Church.

BURLESON—

He compared the Romans dinero to our half dollar, noting that the Romans too replaced a portion of the silver with copper. "If the U. S. dollar goes down the drain, a lot of people and a lot of governments go down the drain with it."

In offering a solution to the complex problems, he said, "I do not favor a tax reduction, but rather, a more efficient operation. There has to be a starting place."

He concluded by giving this Irish Blessing:

"May the road rise to meet you. May the wind be always at your back. May the sunshine warm upon your face, the rains fall soft upon your fields, and, until we meet again, May God hold you in the palm of His hand."

Retiring president, Henry Albritton, reviewed the work of the BCD during the past year noting the work by the agriculture committee in furnishing two FFA boys with helpers, giving trophies for livestock shows and sponsoring the first bale and the work of the retail trade committee in the appreciation day project. J.W. Drummond Awarded Silver Star, Clusters

Capt. Jackie W. Drummond, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Drummond, recently received the Silver Star and two Oak Leaf clusters for distinguished service while in Southeast Asia. Capt. Drummond returned home in April, 1968 and is now stationed at Fort Walton Beach in Elgin, Fla.

He was sighted for gallantry while serving as a T-28 Fighter Pilot. He received the Silver Star for action, Nov. 24, 1967, when he stopped two hostile vehicles while operating in an extremely heavily defended area.

Capt. Drummond received his first Oak Leaf Cluster for distinguished action Jan. 26, 1968. This award was for a night attack on a heavily defended hostile force's vehicle convoy in spite of personal danger. He destroyed eight vehicles and established a new kill record for a single engine aircraft of this type.

His second Oak Leaf Cluster was awarded for action Nov. 20, 1967, when he was on a night armed reconnaissance mission. He was fired on by secluded anti-aircraft while he was attempting to stop a supply vehicle. He destroyed several of the gun positions and then continued his attack on the convoy.

The citations accompanying the awards cite Capt. Drummond for his gallantry and devotion to duty and state that he has reflected great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force.

ROLLING PLAINS COTTON GROWERS INC.

It is safe to assume that approximately one-sixth of the 3,457,147 bales of cotton reported ginned in Texas on January 1, 1969 were produced in counties comprising the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., according to Charles G. Bragg, executive vice president of the organization.

Bragg's estimate is based on the total number of bales reported Feb. 10 as classed in the Abilene office of the Cotton Division of the Consumer and Marketing Service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Technicians at Abilene, under supervision of Borden B. Manly, Jr., officer in charge, had classed 547,299 bales from the 1967-68 crop.

In three counties, — Concho, Runnels and Tom Green, many of the producers sold cotton directly to buyers who did their own classing.

A number of major producing counties in the northern part of the Rolling Plains send samples to the USDA office either at Memphis, Munday or Altus, Okla.

Lone Star Gas To Seek State Rate Adjustment

L. G. James, President of Lone Star Gas Company, announced today that Lone Star has commenced preparation of an application which it expects to file with the Railroad Commission of Texas in early summer to adjust upward the Company's authorized intracompany city gate charge for gas delivered in Texas. The last application filed of such nature by the Company was in December, 1958.

James stated that the current city gate charge is insufficient to compensate for the increases in expenses and investment incurred by Lone Star's transmission division since 1958. According to James Lone Star's transmission division has, since 1958, incurred substantial increases in the cost of gas purchased, Federal income taxes, wages and salaries, the cost of debt money, capital construction, and the cost of such construction.

Lone Star's transmission division purchases and gathers natural gas and transports it to the city gates on the system. Lone Star's distribution divisions receive and pay for gas at the city gate and distribute it to customer's premises.

James said that residential and commercial rates would not be immediately affected by the filing with the Railroad Commission. After the new gate charge is established and specific computations made for each city and town, requests would then be filed for increases in individual cities and towns where they are justified.
